Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Have you met the new soldiers, Nevada County's soldiers? They come home on a furlough every once in a while. Don't you have a little thrill of pride when you see them on the street? They are our boys and we are lending them to Uncle Sam for a time to make sure that Herr Schichlegruber doesn't make slaves of them and us, as he has of the Polish people and soldiers, Dutch, Belgian, Danish, French, etc. One has to remember sharply that this Schicklegruber has a big appetite and chews up the world, one bite at a time. He is chewing avidly on the Russians just now. By November he may be back gnawing on that English bone again. Our soldiers, these boys, exuding good health, walking up Broad Street in new dignity and uniforms are doing their part to keep Mr. Schicklegruber from ever compelling us to work for printing press marks.

Met a lad the other day in his snappy uniform. He used to wear dungarees in a local garage and put the car to rights when something went wrong. And he was good at it. But we noted then that he looked a bit peaked. Did not seem to fill out as a boy should. When he walked, he was a trifle careless of his posture. He stooped a little. When we saw him the other day we hardly knew him. His face shone with good living and out-of-door exercise. The pimples he once wore on his forehead were gone. His manner was assured. He knew he was doing a good job and was proud of it. He seemed to have several interesting ensignia on his coat and we asked all about them. The two big "U. S" in bright gold on the collars, it seems are sewed on all the uniforms for all services. Then there was his division and other ensignia, so that any other soldier or officer could instantly identify him.

Well, we asked that young soldier how he liked the service and he said: "Just fine." He volunteered that the food was the best he had ever had in his life. We did not mention the word "morale" because, somehow or other, we judge that word is nearly obsolete so far as our young soldiers are concerned. But we do think that every citizen should be concerned about whether or not our boys in uniform are happy in their new life. Individually and collectively all of us who stay at home should let thosewho join the armed forces, know that we are grateful to them, that we not only respect them but also admire them.

In this respect we feel that the veterans of the last world war occupy a very favorable spot. They have served the country not in peace time, but in actual war. When they see their sons, and their friends' sons in uniform, they have a very keen sense of what it really means. Unless the rest of us cultivate a little imagination we can never really get the view of a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, or of any man who has marched into battle. But we can, all of us, when we see these boys home on a furlough make them feel that we have a very definite interest in their welfare, and that we are grateful for the time they are giving us— the 129 millions that are not marching, sweating and saluting and learning the hateful trade of war, a trade hateful to any democracy.

When you have greeted one of these soldiers, one of our boys in uniform, and quizzed him to your heart's content, you are going to feel that we have something in these young men that Germany hasn't got. They are being trained so that if they have to, they can lick the world's number one bully. Americans cordially detest bullies. These boys are not being goose-stepped around the country to show their superiority over any other race. They are diligently studying the technic of knocking out the world's champion bruiser, with this planet for a boxing ring, without getting the idea that they or we belong to a super-super race. The thing they have which German youths of this generation will never have, is the ideal of liberty. No damned little house painter named Schicklegruber with a snotty upper lip is going to tell our boys where to get off.

JOSEPH E. HUY RETIRES AFTER 22 YEARS OF SERVICE IN NEVADA CITY POSTOFFICE

Nevada City postoffice patrons will miss the friendly smile and cheery disposition of Joseph E. Huy in the future.

After 22 years of service in the local postoffice, under Postmasters Margaret Finnegan, Phil Scadden and Betty Martin West, Huy has been retired on a pension.

The popular postoffice employee entered governmental service on May 19, 1919. His last day in the local postoffice was Friday.

Prior to accepting the position in the postoffice here, Huy was employed for nearly 20 years by the Rector Brothers, who owned the National Hotel. When he took over the position in the postoffice, his place of employment was just next door to where he had been working.

Hunting and flower growing are Huy's hobbies and he expects to devote his spare time in the pursuit of those two things.

Huy is married and has two children, Mrs. Eileen Pattengale of Hayward and Charles Huy of Hollywood.

The retirement of Huy makes the second postal employee here to retire on a pension within the past several months. Mary Meservey retired several months ago.

Howard Penrose and Ray Wilde, Jr., are now full time employees in the postoffice as a result of the retirement of Miss Meservey and Huy.

MINING ADVISOR SUGGESTED BY HYDRAULIC MEN

Historic Rough and Ready was the site of the meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was well attended and was highlighted by an address by E. G. Kinyon of Grass Valley on the history of Rough and Ready, which during its heydey, seceded from the Union.

Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman was named to head a committee to make plans for a legislative bill to establish mining advisors, similar to farm advisors, in counties where mining is the leading industry.

The next meeting will be held on November 9th, either in Auburn or Forest Hill.

Arrangements for the meeting here were made by Judge Jones and Probation Officer A. W. McGagin of Nevada County.

Bill Allen Succumbs In Carmel

FUNERAL HELD TODAY FOR AYER HOLDINGS MANAGER

Funeral services were conducted in Carmel this morning for William (Bill) Allen, 60, manager of the vast Ayer holdings in Nevada County and probably one of the most influential as well as widely known men in the state.

Allen had been ill for past year and spent much of his time during that period at his home in Carmel.

Allen was a Harvard graduate. His spectacular career included working as a mucker in Nevada County mines, cowboy, army officer, mining executive, business executive and world traveler.

The deceased had been manager of the Ayer holdings since 1922. He made his home at the famous Bonanza Ranch near Smartville and maintained an office in Smartville.

Allen was one of the organizers of the California Hydraulic Mining Association and a director during the first several years.

The mining association, at its meeting in Rough and Ready yesterday, adopted a resolution expressing sympathy to Allen's surviving relatives at their loss and extolled the work he had accomplished for the hydraulic miners.

Allen was an accomplished speaker and his services were frequently sought.

Besides the widow, a daughter in Honolulu survives.

New Arrivals Here Anxiously Awaiting First Fall Of Snow

Mrs. Daniel Dodge has arrived in this city from Anaheim to make her home with her husband, who on September 1st came to Nevada City as a bookkeeper in the local highway maintenance department.

The young couple are making their home at Cain's Auto Court. Both are delighted to live in Nevada City and are anxious for the first fall of snow.

They said Anaheim's 30 inch a year rainfall got pretty monotonous and snow would be a treat. The writer didn't have the heart to tell the new arrivals that Nevada City's average yearly rainfall is 60 inches and last year approximately 80 inches fell.

Delaney of the Downieville District of the Tahoe National Forest advised the supervisor's office today that work has been resumed on the Klondike Trail Bridge across the Yuba River at Sierra City. This work is under the direction of Forest Guard Frank J. Baird, of Wild Plum guard station. Work on the bridge was begun last fall, but due to severe weather had to be discontinued. When this bridge is completed, it will reopen the Klondike trail to travel from Sierra City to the Henness Pass road.

Upon completion of this trail bridge, Guard Baird will begin work replacing the deck of the Keefer Bridge which crosses the Yuba River on the Wild Plum road.

Marker Mutilation Arouses Ire Of Native Daughters

Native Daughters of this city who have learned one of the Native Daughters and Native Sons Pioneer Emigrant Trail markers has been made a target for pistol or rifle shooting are highly incensed and will take the matter up at the Laurel Parlor meeting here Wednesday night.

Mrs. Nellie Clark and Mrs. Beth Wilson, who inspected all markers established by the Native Sons and Daughters in this vicinity, discovered the mutilation of the Pioneer Emigrant Trail marker on the North Bloomfield Road.

The marker was dedicated several years ago.

Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Wilson after viewing the marker dedicated to former Sheriff Douglass near the airport, said they will also call to the attention of the Native Daughters and Native Sons of the need for a trail from the airport to the placque. At present the marker is difficult to find and is partially hidden by trees and underbrush.

RIFLEMAN KILLS DEER HUNTER IN WILDERNESS

A rifleman shooting across Tadpoe Canyon in the wilderness of the Forest Hill Divide killed a 69 year old mine operator and fled, leaving unexplained whether the slaying was accidental or a deliberate ambush.

The victim was George W. Simmons, a partner in the Cooperative Canada Hill Mine on the Forest Hill Divide.

Glenn Simmons, a grandson, and Walter Jones were hunting deer with the victim on one rim of Tadpole Canyon. Jones said that they heard two shots from across the rim. Geo. Simmons, who was a short distance from his two companions, cried out, "I'm shot," and fell to the ground.

Jones said across the canyon they saw two riflemen walking rapidly away from the rim.

Mrs. Tucker and Children Arrive Safetly In Nevada City From South Africa

Completing a journey from far off O'Kiep, South Africa w,hich began in the early part of September, Mrs. Eugene Tucker and two children arrived here Saturday safely.

Mrs. Tucker, wife of a former Murchie Mine executive who was transferred to the South African mines of the Newmont Mining Corporation, said no danger was encountered on the trip, made on an American liner, which prominently displayed American flags. At night the flags were brilliantly lighted so no mistake could be made of the nationality of the ship.

Relatives and friends of the Tuckers were delighted to again see Mrs. Tucker and the children. It has been three years since the Tucker family left for South Africa. Tucker remained at his post.

Steel Tubing For Powerhouse Large Enough For Drum Major Performance

Just think of steel pipe so large that a drum major in full regalia could march through it with room to spare!

Thirty seven hundred feet of it is being made for the P. G. and E. by the Western Pipe and Steel Company at South San Francisco It will be the penstock for the new power plant that Pacific Service is building at Dutch Flat, Placer County— the tube through which torrents of water will race to turn the water wheel that operates the generator. Its capacity will be 475 cubic feet of water per second and with that flow the pressure at the bottom will be 250 pounds per square inch.

The penstock will cost approximately $300,000 and represent at least seven months' work. It will range in diameter from 8 feet at the top of the 3700 foot stretch to 6 1-2 feet at the bottom, and likewise the thickness of the steel will range from three-eighths of an inch to an inch and one-eighth. The total weight will be 1160 tons.

This great pipe is being fabricated in sections 33 feet long. Each contains three steel plates 11 feet wide and all seams are welded inside and outside by an automatic electric welder. To detect any defects and assure a perfect job, all welding is X-rayed by a radiograph designed for the purpose. Where the steel is so thick that the X-rays won't penetrate it, the seams are photographed by the use of radium.

The sections will be trucked to the scene of the development and rivited together there.

Dutch Flat power plant, on the Bear River, will have a capacity of 28,000 horsepower. It will cost $3,210,000 and there will be an additional investment of $570,000 for transmission lines to connect it to the company's far-flung system.

Tex Straw Reports He Shot Prowler In Willow Valley

"Shoot first and talk afterward is my motto," often said William (Tex) Straw, caretaker in Willow Valley for the Valley Gold Mines, Inc.

Tex said he followed that axiom when someone prowled around the St. Louis Mine near his cabin Friday night.

A check with the hospitals and physicians, however, failed to reveal the treatment of any patient for buckshot wounds.

"He may have crawled off and died for all I know," Tex says.

The huge Texan, a picturesque figure and familiar sight on Nevada City streets, said the prowler could consider himself luck if he got away alive.

"I thought I had two shells in my gun," said Tex, "but I found one barrel was empty. Time I went in and loaded up again he was gone"

POINTLESS WASTE

Paper prices have been rising. Shortages are predicted. Rationing is a possibility. Yet at Washington in the multitudious departments, commissions, and what have you, paper is being wasted as if it were as common and as free as the air.

One visit of the postman to this office brought a mass of separate and distinct lots of material from three different governmental departments and agencies. The heaviest and best quality mailing envelopes were used. These ranged in size from 6½ by 10 to 12 by 15 inches. In the main the contents were, so far as we are concerned, of the type which in a court of law would be termed "irrelevant and immaterial." One member of our staff on the same day received six similar pieces at his residence address.

In this same mail was a one-thousand-two-hundred odd page book issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. Page size was 5¾ by 9 inches. As to how many were issued and carried free in the mails we do not know. Presumably, again, the interest of a majority of recipients was the same as ours, viz., absolute zero. What a tremendous waste. What an unnecessary toll upon the taxpayer. — North Western Druggist, St. Paul, Minn.

TRAILER VAGABOND

By WARREN BAYLEY

This feature appears through the courtesy of O. K. Tire Weld Co. G. R. (Red) Jarrard, Hills Flat, Grass Valley, California.

Tacoma, Washington.

Tacoma was named because of a mountain that was later named after Tacoma. Sounds complicated and it is. Founded as Commencement City in 1868, Tacoma quickly acquired its new name—meaning "snow-capped mountain" in Indian—because of the beautiful peak towering some fifty miles to the east of the town. Gradually that mountain became known by the same name in this locality, but for some reason not quite clear, it began to appear on maps as Mount Rainier. A controversy ensued that hasn't been settled yet, and although the world knows the peak as Mount Rainier, you'd better not call it that here in Tacoma. 108,000 inhabitants of this city are proud of their peak and call it Mount Tacoma and will argue by the hour if you won't agree.

Why localities continue to try to hold on to their mountain in this manner is a puzzle. Certainly Tacoma is famous for more than this peak, impressive as it really is. The city has the honor of being the lumber capitol of the U. S.—being first in lumber and second in wood pulp production. It possesses one of the largest copper smelters in the world, handling ore from twenty different countries besides our own, topped by one of the highest smoke stacks in the world, visible for miles as it towers 573 feet above this pleasant green city.

Laid out on the shores of one of the many arms of Puget Sound, Tacoma was but a Hudson's Bay Trading post back in 1822. Twenty years later Fort Nisqually was built for the protection of settlers and you can see that historic and rustic structure in Point Defiance Park today. The Indian wars scared folks away until 1868, when General McCarver set out to build a town in earnest. Progress has been rapid since then and Tacoma is now a large and thriving city still dominated by its peak.

That peak, third highest in our country, towers 14,408 feet, 11,000 of which are above the mountain's own base. Perpetually white with snow and the largest single peak glacial system in the world, it holds 28 glaciers, including 5 giants that cover a combined area of 40 square miles.

Besides being beautiful, these glaciers offer visitors a lot of fun. Paradise Glacier is famous for its "tin pants slide,' a long slick slope which offers you a fast skid on trousers "tinned" with paraffine. There is a year around skiing further up the mountain side, but for the eight months following October the entire 378 square miles of Mount Rainier National Park, of which the peak is the center, is given over to winter sports.

Right now the early fall still offers a tourist hikes and horse back rides over 200 miles of fine trails, as well as 60 miles of highway from which to enjoy the view if you are lazy.

The park's greatest attraction of all, is, of course, Mount Rainier itself. It draws tens of thousands of visitors annually. But when you come to see it, passing through Tacoma, enroute, DON'T ask the way to Mt. Rainier. Refer to the peak as Mount Tacoma and in return you will receive some broad smiles and friendly words along with your directions.

NEW CYCLOTRON TO USE HEAVIER ATOM SMASHERS

BERKELEY Oct. 13.—Construction of the building which will house the University of California's giant atam-smashing cyclotron is now in full swing. The 25 steel columns for the huge, 24-sided structure are now in place.

The building will be 160 feet in diameter and 90 feet high at the center. The structure is now going up around the 4900 ton cyclotron's magnet, which is nearly complete.

Building of the cyclotron is approximately three months behind schedule. The delay was caused by difficulties in obtaining steel for the magnet and building.

The giant cyclotron will be six times as powerful as the most potent atom-smasher now in operation, the 225 ton medical cyclotron on the Berkeley campus. It will hurl atomic bullets with energies of 100 million electron volts, as great as some cosmic rays.

Using a new type of bullet which is six times as heavy as those previously used and which is obtained from carbon atoms, the Berkeley scientists may produce bullets of energies of more than half a billion electron volts.

With the new cyclotron it will be possible to make relatively large quantities of radioactive materials which may be sent to all parts of the world for the treatment of disease and for biological and industrial research.

Club Woman—"Why do they boil locomotives?"

NYA FUNDS FOR THREE NEVADA COUNTY SCHOOLS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—Three high schools in Nevada County have received allotments of NYA student work funds totalling $1,194 to finance part-time employment of needy students for the coming academic year, according to Robert Wayne Burns, State Youth Administrator.

This marks the seventh year Nevada County high school students have been helped to continue their education through the cooperative action of the schools and the National Youth Administratoin for California.

Work projects for needy students will be planned and operated by the schools, Burns reports. Students who want NYA work may file application with their school officials, who will select NYA workers on the basis of need and ability. Students must be between the ages of 16 and 24 inclusive, and must be citizens or owe allegiance to the United States, according to Burns. They may earn from $3 to $6 per week.

The high schools which have been allotted funds for the coming year are: Grass Valley, Nevada City, and Mt. St. Mary's Academy at Grass Valley. During the 1940-41 school year an average of 32 students in these three schools worked on NYA student work projects.

FINAL CITY TAX DAY TOMORROW

Mrs. Orlando McCraney is enroute to New York, driving with her nephew, who has been visiting the west coast the past few weeks. While her associates in the Red Cross production room in the National Hotel are pleased with the opportunity offered Mrs. McCraney for a fine trip and vacation they will miss her patient supervision and efficient management. During the next few weeks the knitting yarn will be distributed by Mrs. Ella Austin of the National Hotel.

Mrs Lamar Flemining will have charge of the infants wear division. Mrs. Martha Elliott will take care of the infant packs, Mrs. A. T. Polglase of the childrens underwear, Mrs. George Calanan and Miss Mary Hoskin will direct the general sewing.

The room in the National Hotel will be open as usual on Tuesday afternoons, and Mrs. Belle Douglas, secretary of the local chapter, will be available at all times for information. It is hoped that when Mrs. McCraney returns a month hence, the work will be so advanced that she will be pleased with the evidence that her efforts in the past have been much appreciated.

Coach Ed Frantz' Yellowjackets are developing into one of the best gridiron teams in the history of the local school. The Yellowjackets hope to defeat the Grass Valley Miners in the big game of the year on Armistice Day.

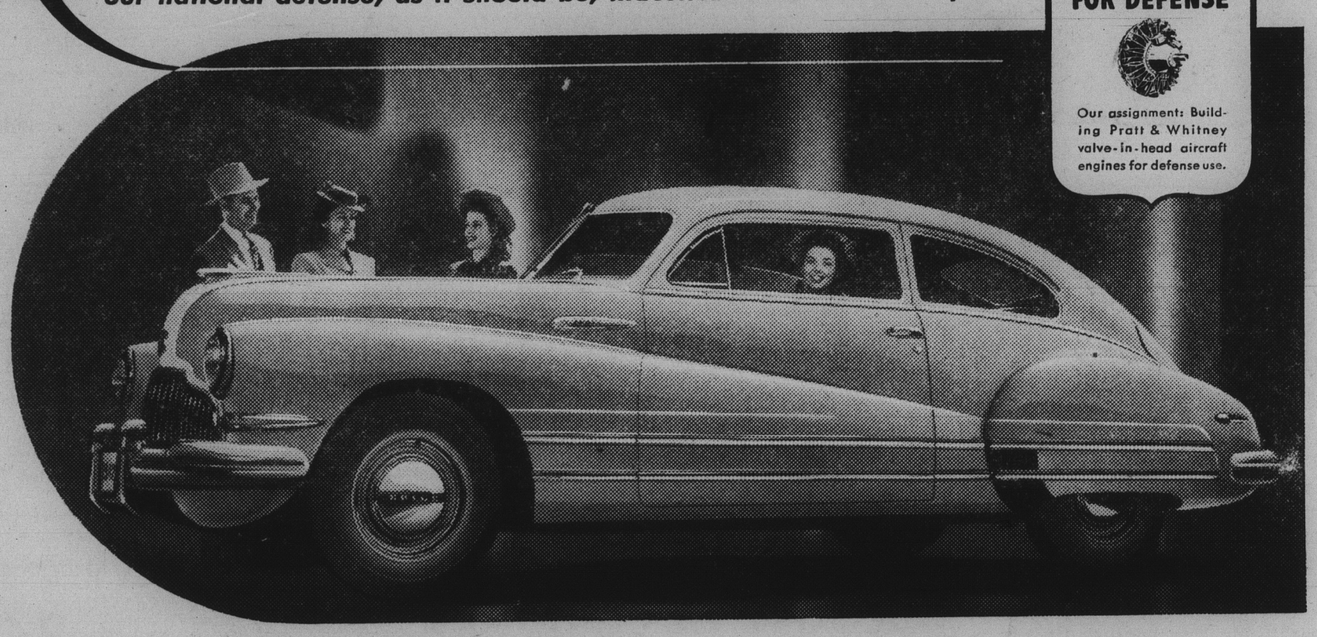
Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, industrial America's No. 1 job



BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE

Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

IT WAS no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Instead we said—these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car—certainly not for any "ersatz" number.

We had to have a real and representative Buick. One we could be proud of. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve till annual new models are the rule again.

We resolved on a 1942 automobile of such merit as could carry the Buick reputation without fault until other new Buicks, however far off, could come along to refresh it.

Now we're announcing those 1942 cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

There's a better answer—you drive these cars themselves. Come on, do that! Put your own yardstick on their quality.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

No other car has ALL THIS FOR YOU IN 'FORTY-TWO

FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE ★ COMPOUND CARBURETION (standard on most models) ★ OIL-CUSHIONED CRANKSHAFT PINS AND JOURNALS ★ STURDI-LITE CONNECTING RODS ★ STEPON PARKING BRAKE ★ BROADRIM WHEELS ★ FULLY ADJUSTABLE STEERING POST ★ BODY BY FISHER ★ WEATHERWARDEN VENTI-HEATER (accessory)
